V.F.W. Mission Statement

The purpose of this corporation (VFW) shall be fraternal, patriotic, historical, charitable, and educational; to preserve and strengthen comradeship among its members; to assist worthy comrades; to perpetuate the memory and history of our dead, and to assist their widows and orphans; to maintain true allegiance to the Government of the United States of America, and fidelity to its institutions of American freedom, and to preserve and defend the United States from all her enemies, whomsoever.

Commander's Corner

Hello members, I hope everyone is doing well. As most of you know we had our Post elections on the 18th of April. Our new officers will take over in June right after the State Commander is installed. I want to thank all of you who stood up to fill an office for the Post. I wish all of you the best in the upcoming year. I know that it takes a lot of hard work to keep our Post up and running. All of you who continued in the same position as last year, I want to thank you for your dedication. It takes people like you to keep our Post one of the best in the State.

We will be dedicating our Veterans Memorial on Memorial Day at Valhalla Cemetery the 29th of May, so mark your calendar. The Program starts at 10 A.M. sharp, so make your plans to attend. We have a great program planned, plus we will be having our free lunch after the program at the V.F.W. The lunch will consist of hamburgers, hot dogs, pork burgers, ham and beans with corn bread. We can use help at the Post to insure that all goes well for this event. So put on your volunteer hat and come on out.

We will be putting out flags at Clear Creek Cemetery on the Saturday before Memorial Day. We can use all the help we can get so it won't take long. We have four other Cemeteries as well to do - two at Ellettsville and two out towards Whitehall. We hope to have them done before we do Clear Creek. We will have a list at the post so people can sign up to help. The one at Clear Creek will be at 10 A.M. Saturday the 27th. We will pick a day and time to do the other four and will have it on the sign-up sheet.

Don't forget to pay your dues if you haven't. If you know someone who is eligible to join the V.F.W. invite them out to see the Post. Membership is what keeps us going.

Lots of fun is being planned for this summer at Post 604, so get involved. Come on out and be part of a great organization. ❖

Commander - Joe Hardin

Memories, History, and “This Too Shall Pass”

I received a military aircraft model catalog in the mail a few days ago. The cover mentioned the 75th anniversary of the Doolittle Raid in April 1942. Then I did some math: 50th anniversary of Tilford getting on the USS Hermitage to go to Danang, Vietnam in April 1967. The day I was boarding the old Landing Ship Dock I was twice as close to the Doolittle Raid as I was to today. Does that make sense? At that time, the Doolittle Raid was ancient history, something my father – in the Navy in 1942 – and mother lived through when they were young. Ancient. But it seems like only three weeks ago I was boarding the Landing Ship Dock in San Diego harbor. Maybe a year or two, tops. Me. The same Me that’s inside my head now. Nah, there must be something wrong with the numbers . . .

We in the VFW, more so than any other group, are a part of the history of the United States and the world. Our roles may have been relatively minor but we had roles. We were at the right place at the right time (Some of us might say at the wrong time!) to be cast. We are older now but we can remember quite well getting on the Landing Ship Dock, or the contract aircraft, or the train, or bus that took us to our curtain call.

Sometimes people we know, including our own family members, will ask “What was it like . . . ?” We hesitate, our minds going back decades first and then considering how sincere the question, how much the questioner really needs to know, and how much they can accept. And we answer, we must answer before we are gone and that memory is lost, describing our part in our particular play.

Our bits of history overlap from generation to generation, from war to war. The new king commanded all his philosophers to summarize all of history into one sentence. They responded, “And this too shall pass.” There were in the past and will be in the future times of peace and war, good and evil, new life and early death. We in the VFW share a commonality of experience with veterans of our personal and other foreign wars of the United States. Heat, cold, mud, sand, pain, fatigue, hunger, fear, disease, wounds – they are shared among all veterans. Were we to meet around a table with veterans of Chapultepec, San Juan Hill, Château-Thierry, Hurtgen Forest, Chosin Reservoir, Khe Sanh, Panama City, Grenada, Khafji, Tora Bora, Fallujah, and future battles not yet fought, we would be among brothers and sisters bonded by shared experience. The end of war is not yet in sight: “And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not alarmed, for this must take place, but the end is not yet.”

Last Friday while enjoying a steak at the Post I looked over Polly’s shoulder at the telly and saw the honor escort for the remains of a WWII veteran arriving in Hawaii. He was to rejoin his shipmates in the USS Arizona. It has been our honor to live at the same time as WWII veterans, to talk with them, to thank them.

While I worked for the Veterans Administration

May 2017

Regional Office in Indianapolis I met a few WWI veterans. (My grandfather served in France.) It was easy to guess their ages. If I was speaking to one in 1978, just drop the 19. Most were eighteen when the United States entered the war in early 1918. I will never forget one conversation with a gentleman who described what it was like to see the German chlorine gas drifting toward his trench line. No one remains who can describe that now.

Or the conversation with the WWII veteran who described his sentry duty at night in the Hurtgen Forest. He was frightened by the “thump, thump” sounds like foot falls in the snow. Clumps of snow dropping from the limbs of trees blown by a gentle wind. Less than five percent of WWII veterans remain.

Or the eastern Monroe County veteran who described flying through the air after a Chinese mortar round went off next to him in Korea. He landed on some rocks. There were no medical records of injury to his spine, the disability which plagued his later years, because medics treat the life-threatening wounds; stop the bleeding, keep him breathing, splint the arms and legs, get him on the litter, and evacuated to the MASH unit, then to the hospital. He was on his back for months. No one checked his back. He passed away a few years ago.

Or the Vietnam veteran on the Monroe County Sheriff Department who, shot through both legs and one lung (Can you name the two reasons why the latter is called a “sucking chest wound”?), was propped against a tree on his squad’s right flank, handed an M-16 and a few magazines, and told to defend that direction as best he could. “I’ll come back and get you later.”

I realized on two occasions how rapidly Vietnam veterans are slipping away. The first was walking through the then-new Quantico National Cemetery and noticing how many of those below my feet were born after I was. The second was receiving my invitation to be flown to Washington, DC on a Greater Lafayette Honor Flight for Vietnam veterans. The tables have turned. This too shall pass.

To you, from failing hands, we throw
The torch: be yours to hold it high
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields
